

English 102-12 MWF 8-8:50. Chavez 308

English 102-20 MWF 9-9:50. Chavez 308

English 102-53 MWF 11-11:50. Mod Lang. 214

English 102-394 MWF 12-12:50. Mod Lang. 212

English 102-98 MWF 1-1:50 Mod Lang. 214

Spring 2024

Dr. Gerald Barr

Gbar1@arizona.edu

Office Hours- Mondays 2-4. Location-TBA

Table of Contents

Course Information

Course Description

Course Goals and Objectives

Course Description

Required Course Materials

Course Communications

Assessment

Course Policies

Attendance and Participation

Submitting Your Work

Classroom Behavior

Land Acknowledgement

We respectfully acknowledge the University of Arizona is on the land and territories of Indigenous peoples. Today, Arizona is home to 22 federally recognized tribes, with Tucson being home to the O'odham and the Yaqui. Committed to diversity and inclusion, the University strives to build sustainable relationships with sovereign Native Nations and Indigenous communities through education offerings, partnerships, and community service.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism
Inclusivity Statement
Accessibility and Accommodations
University Syllabus Policies and Resources
Student Support
Course Schedule

Course Information

Course Description
Course Goals and Objectives
Course Description
Required Course Materials
Course Communications
Assessment

Course Policies

Attendance and Participation
Submitting Your Work
Classroom Behavior
Academic Integrity and Plagiarism
Inclusivity Statement
Accessibility and Accommodations
University Syllabus Policies and Resources
Student Support
Course Schedule

Course Information

Course Description

Research-Driven Writing Course

I design English 102 as a research-driven course. In the beginning of the semester, you will choose a topic to research about which you feel strongly enough to stick with for the whole semester. The topic can be in any field; it can be related to your major, career path, extracurricular activity such as sports or music, etc. The purpose of your research is to develop an objective thesis argument on your topic. So, your topic should have different sides and perspectives that you will be able to engage with in a scholarly manner. You will gradually develop your thesis over the course of the three major essays explained in the syllabus. Your topic should not carry too much emotional weight that could trigger traumatic responses, such as abortion. Your topic also should not be based on personal moral and religious beliefs, as these will inhibit an objective scholarly debate. Avoid any topic that can offend someone's religious beliefs, race, gender, sexual orientation, and cultural norms. I will review and approve your topic.

Course Goals and Objectives

Course Description

English 102 emphasizes rhetoric and research across contexts. Through reading and discussion of content, students engage in rhetorical analysis, research, persuasion, reflection, and revision. It is designed to help students recognize and learn to write for a variety of rhetorical situations, including different audiences, purposes, contexts, and genres. Students will conduct research inquiries, find and evaluate sources, and make critically aware decisions about how best to achieve their purposes. Further, it helps students become aware of their own writing processes and adjust them to whatever demands a particular writing situation places on them.

Course Goals & Objectives

Goal 1: Rhetorical Awareness

Learn strategies for analyzing the audiences, purposes, and contexts of texts in order to strengthen reading and writing.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 1D. Explain how and why a text's audiences, purposes, and contexts influence rhetorical options.
- 1E. Adapt composing practices (including rhetorical choices) to a variety of audiences, purposes, and contexts.

Goal 2: Critical Thinking and Composing

Use reading and writing for research, problem solving, critical thinking, action, and participation within and across different communities.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 2C. Use a variety of research methods, including primary and/or secondary research, for purposes of inquiry.
- 2D. evaluate the quality, appropriateness, and credibility of sources.
- 2E. Synthesize research findings to develop arguments.
- 2F. compose persuasive researched arguments for various audiences and purposes, and in multiple modalities.

Goal 3: Conventions

Understand how purpose, audience, and context relate to genre conventions such as structure, style, design, usage, mechanics, and citation practices.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 3C. Explain why genre conventions for structure, paragraphing, tone, and mechanics vary within and across genres.
- 3D. Identify and effectively use variations in genre conventions within and/or across genres, including formats and/or design features.
- 3E. demonstrate familiarity with the concepts of intellectual property (such as fair use and copyright) that motivate documentation conventions.

Goal 4: Revision

Understand composing processes as flexible and collaborative, drawing upon multiple strategies.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 4E. evaluate and act on peer and instructor feedback to revise their texts.

Goal 5: Reflection

Use meaningful, ongoing reflection to inform writing processes, foster the development of a writing identity, and think ahead to future writing situations.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- 5A. Narrate their processes and progress as writers throughout Foundations Writing courses.
- 5B. Recognize and articulate how their values, goals, and/or circumstances inform their choices as writers
- 5C. Assess how writing experiences and artifacts might influence future writing situations.

Required Course Materials

Textbooks

The required course textbooks are delivered digitally via D2L through the Pay One-Price Inclusive Access program. The textbooks from which your instructor will assign readings and assignments/activities are located in the The Bedford Bookshelf: University of Arizona (access to 60+ textbooks for writing instruction). Please access these required textbooks in D2L on the first day of class. For instructions and troubleshooting on how to access/use these textbooks, please review this support document. If you have any problems, let your instructor know immediately.

Pay One Price

The program from the UA BookStores provides required textbooks and courseware for a flat rate each semester. If you're a Main Campus undergraduate, you're automatically enrolled in Pay One Price each semester (fall & spring). You can opt out for Spring 2024 until Jan. 23, 2024, via D2L to receive a refund. Detailed information about Pay One Price can be found at https://shop.arizona.edu/payoneprice_student. If you have more questions, email payoneprice@arizona.edu or call 520-621-8868.

Textbook Statement

Some textbooks used in the University of Arizona Writing Program (UAWP) are authored by instructors in the program or by the program as a whole. The UAWP requires that all sections of ENGL106, ENGL101, ENGL101A, ENGL102, ENGL107, ENGL108, and ENGL109H purchase the program-authored textbook, the Students' Guide to Foundations Writing and the University of Arizona's custom copy of The St. Martin's Handbook. The Students' Guide and the other custom materials provide resources that are specific to the UArizona campus and the Writing Program's curriculum. In some cases, a UAWP course may require an additional textbook authored or co-authored by an administrator and/or faculty member in the program. In these instances, instructors have carefully selected texts that support their course-specific curriculum and teaching style to best facilitate student learning.

When textbooks authored by instructors or the program are used in UAWP courses, all royalties that would typically be paid to the author from the sale of these books to UArizona students goes back to the Writing Program. These funds are used to support assessment, continued improvement of curriculum, and instructor professional development within the UAWP.

Textbooks (portions used during the semester)

- Everything's An Argument
- The Bedford Reader

- From Inquiry to Academic Writing
- Current Issues and Enduring Questions
- Real Writing With Readings
- Intersections A Thematic Reader for Writers
- Models for Writers
- America Now

Additional Materials

- Laptops for some or every class sessions; UA Library has laptops to check out.

Course Communications

Check D2L announcements for the most up-to-date information for the class. I will post at the beginning of each week the agenda for the week. This will include specific assignments and homework for the week. Also check under D2L content for important documents regarding major essays, lecture PowerPoints, etc. You will submit all work in the assignments section of D2L. We will only use the main lecture D2L, not the studios. Do not email me any assignments.

If you are concerned about your grade, please make an appointment for office hours. I cannot discuss grades with students during class due to confidentiality concerns and my need to get to the next class. You can also discuss this during the conference. (see below)

Email Etiquette:

Please use your UA email address, not your personal address. I prefer and encourage in-person communication either in class or office hours. Please email me to confirm an office hours appointment. Questions in class are more productive than emails and could generate more questions and discussion among students. Please do not email me if you will be missing one day. (minor illness; car trouble; family issue; etc.) Please avoid emailing me after hours (7pm-8am) and please wait 24 hours for a response, depending on the urgency. If you are facing an emergency and expect to miss one week or more, please email me. (see attendance policy) Avoid casual, informal, impulsive and unprofessional emails to professors. Reread and think before you hit send! (We will do an activity on this in class, as part of rhetorical situations).

IMPORTANT: This is an in-person class. I do not teach over email. Check D2L for all up-to-date information and assignments.

Assessment

All students in Foundations Writing courses conduct research, analyze issues and texts (including multimedia texts), and provide feedback to each other's work through peer review. The course is divided into major projects that include both short and long assignments.

Assignment	Due Date	Weight
Project 1: Research Narrative You will begin the process of your research for your research essay. Your narrative will include reasons why you chose this topic and your initial position. You will form a research question.	Sunday, Feb. 18 11:59pm	10%
Project 2: Annotated Bibliography Provide MLA citations and a summary of ten credible and balanced sources for your research topic.	Sunday March 17 11:59pm	10%
Project 3: Argumentative Thesis Essay You will take a firm position on your issue and form a convincing argument while engaging with credible sources found during your research.	Sunday April 7 11:59pm	20%
Project 4: Group Presentations In groups, you will present on the rhetoric of US presidential candidates' political speeches.	April 17, 19, 22	10%
Project 4: Final Portfolio and Reflection Some of the work you compose in this course will be incorporated into a digital portfolio that you will submit at the term's end. In addition to key assignments you choose to include, you will write a 1000+ word essay in which you meaningfully reflect on your engagement with them and related activities. This essay will be informed in part by reflections you write throughout the semester in which you describe not only what you learned but how you learned while completing specific projects.	8am on Friday 5/3 (no extensions allowed)	20%
Short Assignments/Homework	See course schedule	20%
Participation		10%

Assignment	Due Date	Weight
Total: 100%

Due to compatibility and access issues with D2L, please only submit Microsoft Word documents for assignments. All UA students can download Microsoft Office for free. Please do this right away at the beginning of the semester. Do not submit Google Docs/Slides or Pages. Usually converting these to PDF files is fine. Do not submit any shared links, but attach the document itself to the assignment submission link on D2L. (I will demonstrate in class).

Additional Assessment Information

Your instructor will share information about grading policies, required drafts, methods of responding to drafts and final writing projects, and the standards of assessment used in the class. Instructors' feedback will consider the assignment and course student learning outcomes.

You are required to keep electronic copies of all assignments. Some reasons to keep electronic copies include: to resubmit in case an assignment submission is corrupted or if you elect to file a grade appeal at semester's end.

Final Grades

Grades are determined according to the following scale:

A (90-100%) B (80-89.9%) C (70-79.9%) D (60-69.9%) E (59% or below)

Final grades are calculated based on the weights listed in the above table. In order to receive a passing grade in the course (D or higher), students must submit all final versions of all major course projects.

Mid-career Writing Assessment

Your final grade in this course may also be used to satisfy the university's Mid-Career Writing Assessment (MCWA). Please refer to the MCWA policy in the UArizona General Catalog for more information.

More Information on Grades:

Grade Policies | Withdrawals | Grade Replacement Options

Course Policies

Attendance and Participation

First-Week Attendance Policy

In accordance with the university's policy for high-demand classes, students with excessive absences in the first week of classes will be dropped for non-attendance. If you miss the first two meetings/deadlines of the term, you will be considered as having excessive absences.

Instructor-Initiated Drop and Withdrawal Policy

Because attendance is required in this course, excessive absences incurred after the first week can result in your being administratively dropped or withdrawn by your instructor. Please see University Schedule Change–Add/Drop Policies.

NOTE: Being dropped from your English class may mean you fall below the minimum number of units, thus violating financial aid/scholarship OR international student status. Before you withdraw (or are withdrawn) from a course, please review the University's information and policies regarding changes of schedule and consult with your academic advisor. International students should also consult International Student Services before dropping below full time.

Attendance Policy

Three-days-a-week classes: This class meets three days a week. That means you may only miss six class meetings without penalty. For each class missed thereafter, your final course grade will be reduced by 1% for each absence, up to a maximum of -20%.

Excessive tardies: 3 tardies over 10 minutes will count as one unexcused absence. Please note that excessive tardiness counts as disruptive behavior according to the Dean of Students.

- Non-attendance or non-participation for any reason does not guarantee you an extension or make-up opportunity. I handle this on a case-by-case basis.
- Absences for any sincerely held religious belief, observance, or practice will be excused where reasonable.
- Absences for authorized University functions and military obligations will be excused with proper documentation.
- In accordance with the University of Arizona's Class Attendance and Participation policies regarding extended absences, if you must miss more than one week of classes* during a 16-week term, you should contact the Dean of Students Office (DOS) to share documentation about the challenges you are facing.

Examples of appropriate documentation include:

- doctor's note
- jury service verification
- letter from the Office of Institutional Equity
- other documents that demonstrate extenuating circumstances

If you miss class due to extenuating circumstances and are unable to offer documentation or communicate with your instructors, consult with DOS for help determining what kinds of support you need.

*One week=7 consecutive days

IMPORTANT: Lack of communication with the proper authorities (myself, the Dean of Students, your advisor) will automatically result in grade deduction (see attendance policy). Trying to make up late work without proper documentation and communication will not be acceptable. Zoom will not be available as a substitute for in-person classes.

If you miss two weeks of classes (cumulative) without proper communication, I will email you regarding withdrawing from the course. I can withdraw students with their permission. If you do not respond, you will remain enrolled and receive the corresponding grade.

If you are facing an emergency or extenuating circumstances and expect to miss a week or more, please see me in office hours or email me if you are unable to come to campus. Depending on the situation (see examples of appropriate documentation above) we will come up with a plan for you to submit your work. We will both agree on this.

Conferences

Your instructor may reschedule one or more classes to consist of individual or small group conferences. You should come to conferences prepared to discuss your work. If your class has been rescheduled to hold student-teacher conferences and you do not attend at your designated time and place, you will be counted as absent.

Additional Participation Policies

Submitting Your Work

- You are responsible for submitting your work in the manner specified in the assignment description.
- Late Work: I will not accept late homework or daily class assignments unless you have a documented excuse. Do not attempt to submit assignments after a 0 score is given. For each major writing assignment, one grade will be deducted for each day it is late, unless you have a documented excuse. You may miss two assignments under 100 points without a penalty. (Essay outlines are 100 points, so are required)

- The absolute final day to submit work is Friday, May 3 8am. The hard deadline for the final portfolio is Friday, May 3, 8am. No extensions allowed.
- Final grades are posted 48 hours after the final project is due, and no late work will be accepted after grades are posted.

Classroom Behavior

All UArizona students are responsible for upholding the Student Code of Conduct. Students who violate the Student Code of Conduct may be charged by the Dean of Students office. If found responsible, sanctions include but are not limited to academic probation, administrative drops, suspension, or expulsion.

The Student Code of Conduct defines disruptive behavior as “Interfering with or disrupting university or university-sponsored activities, including but not limited to classroom- related activities, studying, teaching, research, intellectual or creative endeavor, administration, service or the provision of communication, computing or emergency services.”

Actions that disrupt the classroom might include excessive tardiness, the use of cell phones or other electronic devices without the instructor’s permission, or engaging in discriminatory activities.

Prohibited Conduct: ABOR Policy 5-308.pdf \(arizona.edu\)

Threatening Behavior: Threatening Behavior by Students | Policies and Procedures \(arizona.edu\)

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism

Students are encouraged to share intellectual views and discuss freely the principles and applications of course materials. However, graded work/exercises must be the product of independent effort unless otherwise instructed. Students are expected to adhere to the UA Code of Academic Integrity as described in the UA General Catalog.

The Council of Writing Program Administrators defines plagiarism in instructional settings as occurring “when a writer deliberately uses someone else’s language, ideas, or other original (not common-knowledge) material without acknowledging its source.” In U.S. academic contexts, this form of academic dishonesty is usually considered a serious offense which should be avoided in order to uphold the common standards of academic integrity in higher education. There are two types of plagiarism you should be aware of:

- Intentional plagiarism is a deliberate act of representing another's work as one's own.
- Unintentional plagiarism occurs by accident when a student is unaware of common academic policies and/or expectations. Unintentional plagiarism is also considered a violation of academic integrity.
- AI Writing: AI Writing (ChatGPT, etc) This technology can be used as a learning tool. However, using this technology to generate essays that you submit as your own original work will violate the University's Academic Integrity policy. Professors are aware of the use of this technology, and it is easy to detect. Personal voice and style are missing in AI writing. We also have tools to detect this. Also, be aware that this technology is not perfect, and has made errors in interpretation and analysis.

Inclusivity Statement

The University of Arizona's Writing Program values the diversity of our students and instructors. The range and intersectional nature of the identities and perspectives we inhabit are a source of our strength—including, but not limited to, socioeconomic status, racial identity, ethnic identity, religious affiliation, national identity, language background, gender identity, disability status, and sexual orientation. In this environment, we expect all students and instructors to respect differences and demonstrate diligence in understanding how other peoples' perspectives, behaviors, and worldviews may differ from their own.

We therefore seek to cultivate an educational environment of inclusion and mutual respect by welcoming self-definition, respecting pronouns, honoring elective disclosure of identities, and introducing intersectional content that challenges students to consider a multitude of perspectives, some of which may be unfamiliar or even uncomfortable. Please contact the instructor to discuss any concerns that could affect your ability to participate fully in this course.

For more information about intersectionality, refer to Intersectionality - LGBTQ+ Resources - Research Guides at Northern Arizona University.

For more information about pronouns, refer to Guidelines for Use of Pronouns at University of Arizona or the Office of Diversity and Inclusion.

Accessibility and Accommodations

At the University of Arizona, we strive to make learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience barriers based on disability or pregnancy, please contact the Disability Resource Center (520-621-3268) to establish reasonable accommodations.

Let your instructor know if there is anything they can do to help you better access the materials in this course, and they will try to do it if they can. Also, please let them know if you can think of a better way to assess what you know about the course content.

Please be aware that the accessible table and chairs in this room should remain available for students who find that standard classroom seating is not usable.

Please carefully review the course relevant policies of the UA here:

University Syllabus Policies and Resources

Student Support

Writing Center at the Think Tank

Free resource for UArizona undergraduate and graduate students as well as faculty and staff. Work individually with a trained peer tutor at any point during the writing process, from brainstorming to revising and editing. Appointments required.

Writing Skills Improvement Program \(WSIP\)

Both free and fee-based resources for UArizona students. Services include: 30 or 50 minute tutoring sessions with WSIP staff, with additional tutoring available via payment; three series of free Weekly Writing Workshops with no prior registration necessary.

Veterans Education and Transition Services \(VETS\)

Provides support for student veterans in terms of academics, institutional access, student involvement and research.

Advising Resource Center: Academic Advising

Questions about your academic progress this semester, your curricular plans for the future, etc.

Additional Resources

Disability Resource Center | Dean of Students Office
Campus Health | Counseling and Psychological Services \(CAPS\)

Course Schedule

Note: Changes to the schedule will be communicated by the instructor and posted in the Course Announcements area in D2L. Please see the weekly agenda for specific assignments posted every Sunday.

Wed, Jan. 10

- Class introductions
- Syllabus

Fri, Jan. 12

- Research Brainstorming activity

Monday, Jan. 15 Martin Luther King, Jr. Day- No Class

Wed, Jan. 17

- Writing fundamentals lecture

Fri, Jan. 19

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, Jan. 22

- Writing Fundamentals Lecture part 2
- Library databases demonstration
- Homework: Foundations Chapter 4, Learning Activity 4B-Rhetorical Shift. Find a news article on two different websites. Evaluate how the rhetoric shifts according to the audience. One page on a Word document. Due by D2L.

Wed, Jan 24

- Introduce Research Narrative essay
- Practice using research chart.
- Foundations Learning Activity 4A in class.

Fri, Jan. 26

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, Jan. 29

- Logical Fallacies lecture
- Homework: St. Martin's Guide Ch. 10f; Fallacies worksheet on D2L. Submit on D2L by Thurs, 10am.

Wed, Jan. 31

- Research question activity lecture
- Subjective vs objective activity in class Homework: Wikipedia assignment. Do a search for a Wikipedia site on your topic. Analyze the rhetorical appeals, its credibility, and the sources cited. Write a 1-page double-spaced evaluation.

Fri, Feb. 2

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, Feb. 5

- Go over research questions, research narrative

Wed, Feb. 7

- Foundations Ch 7, Learning Activity 7D- Analyze the website mentioned in Ch 7, <https://jezebel.com/new-york-city-council-speaker-melissa-mark-viverito-wil-1788402849> Group activity.

Fri, Feb. 9

- Outline explanation for Research narrative

Mon, Feb. 12

- Lecture on St. Martin's Guide Top 20. Revision exercise.
- Homework: Review 3 sample Research Narrative essays posted on D2L (content). Write a paragraph for each essay. Determine which essay is the strongest, middle, and weakest. Use the rubric on the essay instructions to evaluate the essays. Submit on D2L Thurs. 8 am.

Wed, Feb. 14

- Discuss your evaluation of sample Research Narratives in class.

Fri, Feb. 16

Research Narrative Peer Review Workshop-Email you draft to group members
Mon, Feb. 19

- Final Research Narrative Due Sunday Feb 18, 11:59 pm on D2L

Wed, Feb. 21

-

Fri, Feb. 23

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, Feb. 26

- Introduce Annotated Bibliography

Wed, Feb. 28

- Students' Guide Chapter 9 Researching to Write

Fri, March 1

- Friday writing prompt

March 2-10 Spring Recess

Mon, March 11

- Lecture on finding and analyzing credible sources
- Homework: St. Martins Chapter 12, 15

Wed, March 13

- Annotated Bibliograph Peer Review Workshop

Fri, March 15

- Final Annotated Bibliography Due on D2L Sunday March 17 11:59 pm

Mon, March 18

- Introduce Research Argument Essay
- Homework St Martins Chapter 10 Analyzing Arguments
- St. Martins Chapter 10 discussion

Wed, March 20

- St. Martins Chapter 18
- Lecture, demonstration on MLA style

Fri, March 22

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, March 25

- Homework-review sample research essays on D2L

Wed, March 27

- Sample Research Essay Evaluation
- Homework: prepare rough draft of research essay for peer review

Fri, March 29

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, April 1

- Research Argument Essay Peer Review Workshop: Email your drafts to your group. Check D2L for instructions and groups. (-5% for not submitting your rough draft and participating in the peer review)

Wed, April 3

- Final Research Argument Essay Sunday April 7 11:59pm
- Introduce group presentations
- Presentation tips video
- Begin working in groups, brainstorming

Friday, April 5

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, April 8

- Introduce the Final Portfolio

Wed, April 10

- Evaluate sample portfolios

Fri, April 12

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, April 15

- Course review for portfolio
- Homework: Work on group presentations

Wed, April 17

- Group presentations 1

Fri, April 19

- Group presentations 2

Mon, April 22

- Group presentations 3

Wed, April 24

- Portfolio activity

Fri, April 26

- Friday writing prompt

Mon, April 29

- Portfolio activity

Wed, May 1 Last Day of Class

- Portfolio Share

FINAL PORTFOLIO DUE FRIDAY, MAY 3 8am. (No extensions allowed. This is the last day students can submit work, according to the English department.)