

HUMS 150B1: Mind-Altering Substances in the Ancient World

Fall 7W2 2024

General Education: Exploring Perspectives - Humanist (World Cultures & Societies, Writing)

Asynchronous online

Description of Course

This course will be an introduction to the many uses of psychotropic substances in the ancient world. We will explore the different roles that these mind-altering substances played within various religious and medical traditions and investigate the role of Cannabis, psychedelics and alcohol within the economic, social and political realms of antiquity. In order to do this, we will read portions of primary texts in translation and learn to interpret visual and material culture. The primary focus will be to understand how these psychotropic substances were employed within all aspects of society. By understanding the various uses of psychotropic substances in a comparative context, students may better understand how to think critically about the role of drugs beyond their recreational use, thereby fostering an understanding of different cultures and their uses of psychotropics.

Instructor Biography

Dr. Rob Stephan. Hi there, my name's Rob Stephan. You can call me Dr. Stephan, Dr. S., or Dr. Rob. Really any combination of my first and last name as long as it's got a "Dr." in front of it. I'm an Assistant Professor in the Department of Religious Studies and Classics here at the U of A. My research focuses on the economy of ancient Rome, while my courses cover everything from western civ to ancient athletics to classical mythology. When I'm not droppin' knowledge in the classroom, I'm usually out in the desert hiking around or watching sports and eating profoundly unhealthy fried foods. In particular, I'm on the hunt for the best nachos in Tucson. If you enjoy this course, make sure to check out CLAS 150C1 (Pyramids and Mummies) or CLAS 240 (Ancient Athletics) or HUMS 150B1 (Mind-Altering Substances in the Ancient World) or CLAS 160D2 (Classical Mythology) in the summer and winter sessions.

Steve Torowicz. Hi everyone! My name is Stephen Torowicz. I am a PhD student in the East Asian Studies program focusing on Chinese Buddhism. I have been studying Buddhism and many things East Asian for over 20 years. I have been studying and teaching the Chinese Martial Arts (Kung Fu) for over two decades and in addition to this I have been a practicing Acupuncturist and Chinese Medical Herbalist since graduating from the Tri-State College of Acupuncture in 2004. I entered the PhD program here at the University of Arizona in 2015 to study the confluence of Buddhism and Chinese medicine in order to understand how these two disciplines engaged with one another over the course of history.

Course Format and Teaching Methods

The modality for this course is ASYNCHRONOUS ONLINE. What that means is that there is no set time for us all to meet together for lectures and activities. Instead, all lectures are prerecorded, and you can watch them whenever it works best for you. So convenient! There are, however, deadlines for assignments, quizzes, and exams for this course. The deadlines for all of these things can be found on the D2L website for the class.

Although this is an asynchronous online class, you're going to be expected to actively participate throughout the semester. In this class, you're going to learn through two methods: active learning and scaffolded assignments. What means, in short, is that you're going to create your own knowledge by embodying various disciplinary perspectives. You won't just listen to me talk about how a humanist thinks about the past - you'll practice thinking like a humanist yourself. Moreover, throughout the modules, you will acquire a series of skills that build upon one another. This is known as scaffolding. The skills you learn will then be combined at the end of the semester in a signature assignment that serves as a culmination of everything you've learned this semester.

Course Objectives

- Exploring Perspectives. Students will identify the approaches and methodologies of Humanists, using evidence to critically analyze questions and arguments, and consider contributions of this perspective to finding solutions to global and/or local challenges.
- World Cultures & Societies. Students will describe, from one or multiple perspectives, the values, practices, and/or cultural products of at least one non-US culture/society; relate how these values, practices and/or cultural products have shaped their social, historical, political, environmental and/or geographic contexts; and reflect on how the student's own background has influenced their perceptions of other societies and their sense of place in the global community.
- Writing. Students will demonstrate rhetorical awareness and writing proficiency by writing for a variety of contexts and executing disciplinary genre conventions of organization, design, style, mechanics and citation format while reflecting on their writing development.

Expected Learning Outcomes

- Identify the values, practices, cultural products, and/or knowledge traditions associated with mind-altering substances in the ancient world.
- Employ archaeological (material), historical (textual), and artistic evidence to create and support arguments about the use of drugs in ancient societies.

- Reflect on how students' own backgrounds have impacted their perceptions of drugs in the modern world and the ancient world.
- Conduct written primary source analyses to identify author, audience, genre, message, and biases in ancient East Asian and Greco-Roman texts (in English translation).
- Evaluate and defend the strengths and consequences of approaching mind-altering substances from a humanistic disciplinary lens. Synthesize multiple disciplinary perspectives to make a multifaceted argument about mind-altering substances.
- Interpret texts from a foreign culture in light of their author, audience, genre, and context, and leverage those texts in support of an argument.
- Use the analytical tools of the humanities to relate how East Asian and Greco-Roman cultures has been shaped mind-altering substances, and, in turn, how mind-altering substances helped shape East Asian and Greco-Roman cultures.

Technology Resources

Free Software. UA Software Licensing serves the University of Arizona campus community by providing public domain, bulk purchase, volume, and site-licensed software. <https://softwarelicense.arizona.edu/students>

Computer-Based Training. The University of Arizona's UACBT service (Computer-Based Training) offers 24/7 availability of FREE online training to over 1000+ courses and 98,000+ video tutorials, covering a broad range of topics and applications. Most tutorials have between five and fifteen hours of content. Each tutorial is divided into lessons from 2-10 minutes long on average. Each lesson is available as a Flash, QuickTime, Adobe Air, or Adobe Air for Linux movie. You can stop, start, rewind, and review each lesson as often as desired.

<http://uits.arizona.edu/services/uacbt>

Connecting to VPN. For some of your online classwork, a VPN connection may be required for full access to certain UA resources such as the library databases. A Virtual Private Network (VPN) provides a secure connection from your computer to the network you are connecting to. The VPN client is the piece of software that handles the connection between your home computer, laptop, or mobile device and the UA network. Instructions for downloading and installing the free software can be found on the Information Security website and 24/7 IT Support can assist you with the install.

Assignments and Examinations

Written Responses

- Overview. Each module you'll be reading an excerpt from either modern secondary sources or ancient primary sources. This is cool! You're going to be engaging with texts that were composed more than 2,000 years ago. For each text, I'm going to put up a question to respond to. Post your response to the discussion question as a MS Word file or a PDF.

- Assessment. To be eligible for full credit, the response must be at least 250 words, make a powerful argument, contain strong evidentiary support, cite the ancient sources at least 2 times, follow all formatting guidelines, and be turned in on time. The reading responses will be assessed as follows. Grading Rubric can be found on D2L.

Exams

- Midterm Exam. The midterm exam is going to occur after the 8th module of the course. It's going to consist of factual true/false questions (x10), and factual multiple choice questions (x10) and an essay question (x1). The true/false and multiple choice questions will test you on factual knowledge from the lectures, while the essay questions will ask you to synthesize material from across lectures. Each of the true/false and multiple choice questions on the midterm exam will be worth 3 points and automatically graded. The essay question will be worth 40 points and graded based on the quality of the content (the precision and strength of the argument, the quality and quantity of the evidence backing up the argument, the quality of the prose putting forth the argument).
- Final Exam. The final exam is going to occur after the 15th module of the course, after all the full modules have been completed. It will cover the entirety of the course. It's going to consist of true/false questions (x15), factual multiple choice questions (x15) and essay questions (x2). The true/false and multiple choice questions will test you on factual knowledge from the lectures, while the essay question will ask you to synthesize material from across lectures. Oh, and you can use your notes on this as well! You'll have a time limit on the test, but feel free to use your notes along the way to help you with both the questions and the essays. Each of the multiple choice questions on the final exam will be worth 2 points and automatically graded. The essay questions will be worth 20 points each and graded based on the quality of the content (the precision and strength of the argument, the quality and quantity of the evidence backing up the argument, the quality of the prose putting forth the argument).
- U of A Exam Regulations. Find the official University of Arizona exam policies here.

Signature Assignment

- Overview. As an Exploring Perspectives – Humanist course, you'll synthesize the disciplinary skills you've learned during the semester in a scaffolded Signature Assignment. For this Signature Assignment, you will choose a single mind-altering substance, and you will create a National Geographic-style or History Channel-style documentary about that substance in at least two different cultures of your choosing. For each culture, you'll want to find at least one modern secondary source and one ancient primary source text or ancient material object (an artifact or a monument) related to the substance and culture you're investigating. In the end your 4-6 minute video documentary should demonstrate your in-depth research and be presented in a style that's engaging to a broad audience interested in the past.
- Assessment. 60% of your grade will come from the assignments leading up to the final project (the PlayPosit Quiz, Annotated Bibliography, and Documentary Script are worth 20% each). Then the final video documentary will be worth 40% of your Signature Assignment Grade. You will be graded on the quality of the research, the quality of the script, and the quality of the production.

Final Examination and Signature Assignment

- Final Exam. The final exam is going to occur after the 15th module of the course, after all the full modules have been completed. It will cover the entirety of the course. It's going to consist of true/false questions (x15), factual multiple choice questions (x15) and essay questions (x2). The true/false and multiple choice questions will test you on factual knowledge from the lectures, while the essay question will ask you to synthesize material from across lectures. Oh, and you can use your notes on this as well! You'll have a time limit on the test, but feel free to use your notes along the way to help you with both the questions and the essays. Each of the multiple choice questions on the final exam will be worth 2 points and automatically graded. The essay questions will be worth 20 points each and graded based on the quality of the content (the precision and strength of the argument, the quality and quantity of the evidence backing up the argument, the quality of the prose putting forth the argument).

- Signature Assignment. As an Exploring Perspectives – Humanist course, you'll synthesize the disciplinary skills you've learned during the semester in a scaffolded Signature Assignment. For this Signature Assignment, you will choose a single mind-altering substance, and you will create a National Geographic-style or History Channel-style documentary about that substance in at least three different cultures of your choosing. For each culture, you'll want to find at least one modern secondary source, one ancient primary source text, and one ancient material object (an artifact or a monument) related to the substance and culture you're investigating. In the end your 4-6 minute video documentary should demonstrate your in-depth research and be presented in a style that's engaging to a broad audience interested in the past.

Academic Support Service

Think Tank Writing Center

The Writing Center offers free consultations by appointment with trained and certified peer tutors. Our tutors offer helpful feedback on any kind of writing at any point in the process—even before there are words on the page. During each session, tutors get acquainted with the student's writing, answer questions, identify patterns, make recommendations, and help the student come up with a plan for moving forward. Tutors can serve as a second set of eyes on personal statements, application essays, lab reports, theses, dissertations, resumes, creative writing, and even professional emails.

Writing Skills Improvement Program

By Appointment: One free, 50-minute session every other week during the regular academic year. To schedule an appointment, return to our home page and follow the directions under Register for Tutoring. If you are new to WSIP be sure to register first. Drop-in Tutoring: Free 20-minute sessions available twice weekly during the regular academic year; no appointment needed. Small Group Tutoring: One free, 120-minute session every other week during the regular academic year. NEW: Participation in groups is free for 2 academic semesters. After that, a small fee applies.

Grading Scale and Policies

University Policy

University policy regarding grades and grading systems is available at <http://catalog.arizona.edu/policy/grades-and-grading-system>

Grading Scale

A ≥ 90; B ≥ 80; C ≥ 70; D ≥ 60; E < 60

Grade Composition

Written Responses = 30%
Signature Assignment = 30%
Exams = 40%

Writing Components

Reading Responses = 30% (100% writing = 30% of total grade is writing)

Signature Assignment = 30% (40% is writing = 12% of total grade is writing)

Exams = 40% (50% is writing = 20% of total grade is writing)

TOTAL = 100% of which 62% is writing

Incomplete (I) or Withdrawal (W):

Requests for incomplete (I) or withdrawal (W) must be made in accordance with University policies, which are available at <http://catalog.arizona.edu/policy/grades-and-grading-system#incomplete> and <http://catalog.arizona.edu/policy/grades-and-grading-system#Withdrawal> respectively.

Dispute of Grade Policy

If you disagree with a grade you've received please undertake the following procedure. First, email your TA, describing who you are, what assignment/exam you're referencing, what grade you received, and why you disagree with that grade. Your TA will respond with an email describing why you received the grade you received. If you still disagree, schedule a meeting with your TA, and verbally discuss the assignment and grade. If you still disagree after emailing and meeting with your TA, then email me and cc your TA. The three of us will then meet together to discuss the grade. Reassessment by the professor will only occur after the student has met with the TA to discuss the assignment and grade.

Expected Grading Time

You can expect weekly assignments to be graded within one week. You can expect larger assignments, exams, or projects to be graded within two weeks. Any late work submitted will be graded by the end of the semester.

Honors Credit

This course will accept honors contracts for students in the honors college. The honors assignment will be posted on D2L. To enroll for honors credit, please apply and upload the assignment at the following link: <https://www.honors.arizona.edu/honors-contracts>.

Classroom Behavior Policy

Recommended language:

To foster a positive learning environment, students and instructors have a shared responsibility. We want a safe, welcoming, and inclusive environment where all of us feel comfortable with each other and where we can challenge ourselves to succeed. To that end, our focus is on the tasks at hand and not on extraneous activities (e.g., texting, chatting, reading a newspaper, making phone calls, web surfing, etc.).

Additional recommendations depending on instructor preferences:

Students are asked to refrain from disruptive conversations with people sitting around them during lecture. Students observed engaging in disruptive activity will be asked to cease this behavior. Those who continue to disrupt the class will be asked to leave lecture or discussion and may be reported to the Dean of Students.

Alternate language for those who want to restrict computers and laptops to an area of the classroom:

Some learning styles are best served by using personal electronics, such as laptops and iPads. These devices can be distracting to other learners. Therefore, students who prefer to use electronic devices for note-taking during lecture should use one side of the classroom.

Alternate recommended language for those who do not wish to permit laptops in the classroom:

The use of personal electronics such as laptops, iPads, and other such mobile devices is distracting to the other students and the instructor. Their use can degrade the learning environment. Therefore, students are not permitted to use these devices during the class period.

Threatening Behavior Policy

The UA Threatening Behavior by Students Policy prohibits threats of physical harm to any member of the University community, including to oneself. See <http://policy.arizona.edu/education-and-student-affairs/threatening-behavior-students>.

Notification of Objectionable Materials

This course will contain material of a mature nature, which may include explicit language, depictions of nudity, sexual situations, and/or violence. The instructor will provide advance notice when such materials will be used. Students are not automatically excused from interacting with such materials, but they are encouraged to speak with the instructor to voice concerns and to provide feedback.

Accessibility and Accommodations

Recommended language is provided on the Disability Resource Center website:

<http://drc.arizona.edu/instructors/syllabus-statement>.

Code of Academic Integrity

Students are encouraged to share intellectual views and discuss freely the principles and applications of course materials. However, graded work/exercises must be the product of independent effort unless otherwise instructed. Students are expected to adhere to the UA Code of Academic Integrity as described in the UA General Catalog. See:

<http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/academic-integrity/students/academic-integrity>.

Avoiding Plagiarism

The University Libraries have some excellent tips for avoiding plagiarism, available at <http://new.library.arizona.edu/research/citing/plagiarism>.

Using Artificial Intelligence

For this course, you are not allowed to use AI to write your essays. Everything you write needs to be in your own words...I want to hear your ideas! Remember, I'm generally not concerned with you getting the "right" answer, but rather that you make your own argument and support it with evidence. Do that, don't use AI! As you may know from university policy (<https://ucatt.arizona.edu/teaching/artificial-intelligence-teaching-learning>), we can't use AI checkers to 100% determine if AI was used in creating a written response. HOWEVER, as someone who teaches about 4,000 students a year, it is pretty obvious when something sounds like a robot with all-the world's information wrote something rather than a freshman in college. If we suspect AI in your response, you may redo the assignment for up to 50% credit, second offense an automatic zero. If you believe you did not use ai, you can dispute it and we will loop in the DOS.

Selling Class Notes

Selling class notes and/or other course materials to other students or to a third party for resale is not permitted without the instructor's express written consent. Violations to this and other course rules are subject to the Code of Academic Integrity and may result in course sanctions. Additionally, students who use D2L or UA e-mail to sell or buy these copyrighted materials are subject to Code of Conduct Violations for misuse of student e-mail addresses. This conduct may also constitute copyright infringement.

Nondiscrimination and Anti-harassment Policy

The University of Arizona is committed to creating and maintaining an environment free of discrimination. In support of this commitment, the University prohibits discrimination, including harassment and retaliation, based on a protected classification, including race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or genetic information. For more information, including how to report a concern, please see

<http://policy.arizona.edu/human-resources/nondiscrimination-and-anti-harassment-policy>

Our classroom is a place where everyone is encouraged to express well-formed opinions and their reasons for those opinions. We also want to create a tolerant and open environment where such opinions can be expressed without resorting to bullying or discrimination of others.

AI Policy

Policy. In this course, there's a lot of writing. And it's going to be VERY TEMPTING to take the shortcut of using AI to write your essays (reading responses, project text, exam essays) for you. For this course, you are not allowed to use AI to write your essays. Everything you write needs to be in your own words...I want to hear your ideas! Remember, I'm generally not concerned with you getting the "right" answer, but rather that you make your own argument and support it with evidence. Do that, don't use AI!

How We Identify It. As you may know from university policy (<https://ucatt.arizona.edu/teaching/artificial-intelligence-teaching-learning>), we can't use AI checkers to 100% determine if AI was used in creating a written response. HOWEVER, as someone who teaches about 4,000 students a year, it is pretty obvious when something sounds like a robot with all-the-world's information wrote something rather than a freshman in college.

Consequences. If we believe something was written using AI, here's what will happen. You get to choose between two options. (1) We'll let you know and give you a zero for the assignment. You can choose to redo the assignment for 50% credit. Second offense is just a zero with no redo. (2) If you'd like to dispute that and you really didn't use AI, we'll loop in the Dean of Students and work with you and the DoS office to resolve the issue. Certainly innocent until proven guilty but the university's office of academic integrity is involved in this case.

Campus Pantry

Any student who has difficulty affording groceries or accessing sufficient food to eat every day, or who lacks a safe and stable place to live and believes this may affect their performance in the course, is urged to contact the Dean of Students for support. In addition, the University of Arizona Campus Pantry is open for students to receive supplemental groceries at no cost. Please see their website at: campuspantry.arizona.edu for open times.

Furthermore, please notify me if you are comfortable in doing so. This will enable me to provide any resources that I may possess.

Preferred Gender Pronoun

This course affirms people of all gender expressions and gender identities. If you prefer to be called a different name than what is on the class roster, please let me know. Feel free to correct instructors on your preferred gender pronoun. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me directly in class or via email (instructor email). If you wish to change your preferred name or pronoun in the UAccess system, please use the following guidelines:

Preferred name: University of Arizona students may choose to identify themselves within the University community using a preferred first name that differs from their official/legal name. A student's preferred name will appear instead of the person's official/legal first name in select University-related systems and documents, provided that the name is not being used for the purpose of misrepresentation. Students are able to update their preferred names in UAccess.

Pronouns: Students may designate pronouns they use to identify themselves. Instructors and staff are encouraged to use pronouns for people that they use for themselves as a sign of respect and inclusion. Students are able to update and edit their pronouns in UAccess.

More information on updating your preferred name and pronouns is available on the Office of the Registrar site at <https://www.registrar.arizona.edu/>.

Midterm Exam
• The midterm exam can be found on D2L either under the "Content" tab (between modules 8 and 9) or under the "Quizzes" tab. Head to D2L and navigate to the Midterm Exam to take it online. Do not open the Midterm until you are certain that you're ready because you will then have to take it immediately. However, everything is discussed and laid out on the slides. MAKE SURE YOU DOWNLOAD THEM SO YOU CAN HEAR THE MATERIAL. And please, make sure you follow the directions on the essay. Minimum of three citations (have them beforehand so you can just paste them in / or write the essay out before hand). Make sure you have an intro, contrasting statement, thesis and conclusion. These don't need to all be separate paragraphs, but ideally you should have three paragraphs: Intro, Body, Conclusion. I want to see a BIBLIOGRAPHY.	November 18

Final Exam
The final will take place via D2L. Once you start the exam, you will have 2 hours to finish it. There will be 15 True/False questions and 15 multiple choice questions worth 2 points each. These will test you on factual data from the lectures from the second half of the course. There will be 2 essays worth 20 points each. One of these will ask you to bring together	December 16 knowledge from the second half of the course. The other will ask you to synthesize knowledge from both halves of the course. The exam is open note; so make sure your notes are thorough and organized before you start the exam. There is no official study guide for the exam. But think of the major themes from each lecture. That should give you a sense for the concepts I find important.

Signature Assignment Final Project Video Documentary
• SIGNATURE ASSIGNMENT FINAL PROJECT VIDEO DOCUMENTARY (SUBMITTED AND GRADED) • For this Signature Assignment, you will choose a single mind-altering substance, and you will create a National Geographic-style or History Channel-style documentary about that substance in at least two different cultures of your choosing. For each culture, you'll want to find at least one modern secondary source and one ancient primary source text or one ancient material object (an artifact or a monument) related to the substance and culture you're investigating. In the end your 4-6 minute video documentary should demonstrate your in-depth research and be presented in a style that's engaging to a broad audience interested in the past.	December 16

The Classics Major and Minor

The University of Arizona's interdisciplinary Department of Religious Studies and Classics offers a major (B.A.) and a minor in Classics, with options in Classical Civilization, Greek, or Latin. For more information on the Classics major and minor, see <http://classics.arizona.edu>.

Classics majors have pursued careers in a wide variety of fields, including business, government, law, medicine, education, and social services. Many students have paired the Classics major with majors in a wide range of fields, earning a double major or dual degree. This provides a comprehensive undergraduate education and gives graduates a competitive edge when applying for jobs or graduate studies.

For questions about the Classics major or minors and/or to declare a major/minor, contact the Classics undergraduate faculty advisor, Dr. Robert Stephan, at rstephan@email.arizona.edu or visit <https://classics.arizona.edu/declare>. You also can contact the College of Humanities Advising Office for any advising needs, at <http://advising.humanities.arizona.edu>.

The Department also offers a major (B.A.) and a minor in Religious Studies, as well as a minor in New Testament Language and Literature. For more information on these degree options, see religion.arizona.edu and religion.arizona.edu/students/new-testament.
